Privacy Notice

New rules about data protection, the General Data Protection Regulations (GDPR) came into force in May 2018. Like most similar organisations, Chester Society for Landscape History holds certain basic information about its members. Under the new rules we must tell you what information we hold and how it may be used.

The only information we hold, in hard-copy and/or electronic form, is information you have given us. We have basic contact data including your name(s) and address. If YOU have supplied them, we may also hold your phone number(s) and email address(es). We also hold records of your subscription payments and may hold copies of your email or written correspondence with us.

The reason we hold this information is to fulfil our obligations to our members. The Society has a legitimate interest in being able to receive members' subscriptions, contact members and inform them of activities, as well as to re-engage members whose membership has recently lapsed. We will hold this information for your period of membership and for up to two years thereafter.

We will only use the information for the Society's activities and we will not pass your data to other person or organisation. You have the right to have your data removed from our records at any time. Inform us in writing at the above address or by email and your data will then be removed.

We try to make sure that the information we hold is up to date and accurate. If any of your personal information changes after this membership renewal please let us know.

Under the provisions of the GDPR, you have the right to object to our holding of this. To do so, please contact us using the details above as soon as possible.

From time to time (currently once or twice a month), the Society receives e-mails advertising events of interest to our members – day-schools, exhibitions, conferences and so on. If you have supplied an e-mail address, would you like these to be forwarded to you? YES/NO.
